Welcome back to the new term.

This term the EYFS/KS1 topic is 'What have they done to help us?' Looking at significant people like Florence Nightingale and Isambard Kingdom Brunel and KS2 are continuing their topic in Stone Age.

This week we celebrated Pancake Day by making and eating pancakes, having pancake races and seeing how many times they could flip the pancake. Everyone wrote down the instructions for making their pancakes which had made a fantastic whole school display in the hall.

Next week is World Book Day, 5th March, I would like us to celebrate this by going back to the original reason it was set up to enjoy and love books and storytelling, so we won't be dressing up this year. I would like every child to think about their most treasured book or story and bring that book into school on world book day to share with their friends.

We will be spending some of the day making props and puppets to help retell the story in a creative and imaginative way to share their story. For the rest of the day we will be making our own books which we will share in school and with the local group Prime Time the following week.

We would be grateful if you have any bits and pieces at home that may be useful for making puppets and props for stories please send them in for us to use.

Great Fire of London Report

The children will be writing out their reports on the 'Great Fire of London'. These will be available in the Post Office /Shop for everyone to see.
