What have the Infants done this week?

This week the infants have had lots of fun doing Easter crafts. We have been learning how to write instructions and the children have been working hard to improve their work. They were very patient in the Easter service when we had some technical difficulties and we were very proud of them. We hope they have a lovely holiday and spend lots of time exploring and playing both inside and outside.

Egg Competition

What a hard task it was to choose a winner from all those fantastic egg displays. All the children showed amazing artwork creating a fun filled competition for all who took part.

In science we have been planning an experiment how we might investigate which colours would be easier to see at night. We will finish our investigation after the Easter holidays.
